It was welcome news which came to borrowers of Northfield that the interest rate upon their mortgages held by the Greenfield Co-operative Bank will be reduced to five and a half per cent effective March first. The previous rate was six per cent. The bank has been prosperous and has recently purchased property on Federal street for its future location. Its affairs are in most excellent shape.

Girl Scout Leader
Here For Conference
On Training Program

Miss Thelma Trott of Boston, a member of the Girl Scout national field staff, is in Northfield this week for a conference with Council members and workers in the movement from many places in this district of western Massachusetts and Connecticut. Mrs. William Marshall of Highland avenue is chairman of the Local Girl Scout Council and active in the affairs of the local Girl Scout troops. Many women are volunteering for service in the work of the Scouts and this conference provides a free discussion of plans and purpose, as well as a discussion of the nation-wide program. Miss Trott is a graduate of Boston University and was active in the work as a local leader before enlisting with the national endeavor as a member of the field staff. Her headquarters are in Boston with the New England Regional office. Miss Trott will meet all local members of the Northfield Council before returning home, and several meetings will be held at which Mrs. Marshall will preside. The Girl Scout movement is rapidly growing and it is hoped that during this year a million or more young girls will be enrolled.

Life's Valiant Answer

A Florida back-country woman was hoeing out in front of her weather-beaten house. A neighbor stopped and leaned on the fence. "Effie May," she said, "it ain't fitten for you to be hoein' out here today when the whole town knows that you just had a letter from the government sayin' that your son, Jim, is layin' out in one of them furrin heathen lands deal. It just ain't fitten."

Effie May rested her hoe and looked at her neighbor with bleak level eyes. "Friend," she said, "I know you mean well, but you just don't understand. This is Jim's land, and it rejoiced his heart to see green things growin' because it meant that his maw and the young 'uns would be eatin'." This is his hoe, and when I'm hoein' I can almost feel his big strong hands under mine and hear his voice sayin' "That's good, Maw. That's good." I can't afford a stone monument for Jim. Workin', not weepin', is the only headstone I can give him. So, if you don't mind, Neighbor, I'll do my grievin' in my own way."

Editor's note: Here is a true story by Don Blanding which is inspiring. Through the courtesy of Carl Mason we are privileged to publish it. Effie May's answer to life, gives courage to others who need it.

Health Council Elect

The local Health Council reorganized on Monday afternoon, January 10 at a meeting at the Center school, and the following were chosen as officers for the ensuing year:

Mrs. George Carr, chairman; Mrs. William E. Park, vice-chairman; Mrs. Carroll Miller, secretary and treasurer; and Miss Mary Dalton, auditor.

There was a small attendance but Miss Lewis of the State Department of Public Health gave a most interesting talk on the new "vision test" for children. It was decided to meet every other month with the next meeting scheduled for Monday, February 14. Miss Anne Mattoon, former president who had been very active in the organization is now in New York city in social work.

The Ladies Sewing society of the Congregational church held an all day meeting on Thursday with a luncheon at noon.

Announcement Made
Treadway To Quit
After Long Service

The long expected retirement of Congressman Allen T. Treadway who represents us in Congress, has been formally announced by him in a statement issued from his Washington office to the newspapers of his district. His statement is as follows:

"For many years you have been extremely kind to me in successive elections as Congressman. I have tried to show my appreciation by the service I have rendered you. The time has now arrived when I feel I am entitled to relinquish the honors of public office, with their accompanying responsibilities, and return to private life. I therefore am taking this means of informing you that I shall not be a candidate for reelection in 1944. I am making this announcement in order that those who may have ambitions to succeed me may plan accordingly. Your confidence in me during the past 30 years has been a source of the greatest personal gratification, and I again thank you for your long-continued loyalty and support."

Mr. Treadway, who is 76 years of age, makes his home in Stockbridge, and has been a frequent visitor to Northfield and has always kept in contact with the local Republican Town committee and local leaders. He has served in the Congress for 32 years and has been a member of the important Ways and Means committee for 25 years. He had served in the State Senate and was also President of that body before going to Washington, during the career of Calvin Coolidge, then Governor of Massachusetts. Mr. Treadway has been in ill health for some time and has been undergoing hospitalization recently.

The way is now open for candidates as his successor to come out and announce themselves and already several names have been mentioned. At the last election for the office, Raymond L. Buell of Richmond was a candidate against Mr. Treadway, but while he received a flattering vote in Northfield, he did not carry the district, and Mr. Treadway becoming the Republican choice, ran on the ticket against his Democratic opponent and was elected.

Program Was Enjoyed
By Fortnightly Women
At Year's First Meet

The first meeting of the year of The Fortnightly was held at Alexander Hall on Friday afternoon, January 7 when a musical program in charge of the Music committee was offered. The attendance was not as large as usual due to much illness and cold weather conditions. It was an excellent entertainment with Miss Irene Milkus of Chicopee as artist. In her playing of instruments she was accompanied by her brother at the piano. She played selections on the violin, clarinet, xylophone, concertina and on several improvised gadgets including a saw, a feathered instrument and bells. Several from the audience were invited forward to play the instruments and they did remarkably well. Selections were both classical and popular. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour following the program and the hostesses were Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. Spring and Mrs. Kidder. The business meeting of the club was omitted. The next meeting will be Friday, February 4 in Alexander Hall at three o'clock and Mr. and Mrs. Thatch of Mount Hermon will entertain. Mr. Thatch will speak on "Painting as a Hobby" based on his own experiences and Mrs. Thatch will render selections on the piano. She is a prominent artist and has played with well known symphony orchestras. The club is fortunate in securing Mr. and Mrs. Thatch and a most interesting program is assured. The tea hostesses will be Mrs. Ross L. Spencer, Mrs. A. J. Marston and Mrs. George Thompson.

Our Panel Assistants In Rationing Board

The article in the Press on January 7th concerning the anniversary of the Rationing Board inadvertently omitted the names of Northfield's three panel assistants, who have been of great help in establishing co-operation between all retailers and the public, and the aims of the Office of Price Administration in price control.

These women, who deserve credit as well as the board members, are Gladys C. Bistrek, Northfield; Violet J. Moody, East Northfield; and Elizabeth L. Holton, West Northfield.
